RUSH FOR LOTS AT FORT SUMNER

Woman Defeats Men in the Race for Property—New Buildings Erected.

Fort Sumner, N. M., March 19.—There was a great excitement in town over the rush for town lots in the right-of-way of the Union lake canal which runs through town. A rumor started that word had been received throwing the strip open to settlement.

The result was a stampede for possession, in which men of all ranks engaged. Claim stakes were hurried out and following them went posts and wire. One company of men was beaten to a lot by a woman with a long pole, who claimed the filing.

After the footrace filing papers were produced, that started contests with some of the new claimants, who found no evidence of filing upon the ground. The rumor persists that the strip is to be opened and houses are going up in every direction. Across the railroad another town addition is being laid off and lots are being staked out there.

J. E. Overstreet has arrived with his car of goods from Sedalia, Colorado.

Mr. Emory, eastern sales manager for the local company, is putting up a dwelling.

Mr. Whitlatch is putting up a business building on Fourth street.

WE'RE GOING TO MOVE, TOO.

But Before We Do We Will Hold a Big Sale of Rubber Goods.

Like everybody else in El Paso, we're going to move. We're going to 204 St. Louis street. You won't have any trouble finding the place. But, we don't want to carry all our present stock into the new store. It's cheaper to cut prices and sell some of it than to go to the expense of packing and moving it.

We begin Monday a sale of rubber goods. Everything made of rubber—hot water bags of all sizes, syringes of all kinds, etc., etc.—will be offered at a liberal discount. Next week is the time to buy anything in the rubber line that may be needed in your home!

UNIQUE PLACER OF GUADALUPE

Luis Terrazas Gets Nuggets
From Mexico Property
With a History.

Luis Terrazas, Jr., of Chihuahua, has recently visited, for a week, the gold mine in the Placer de Guadalupe, north-east of the city of Chihuahua, about 90 miles, and near the line of the Orient railroad. He brought into Chihuahua with him over 12,000 pesos worth of gold in bullion, and nuggets from the property. The mine is called La Var-gen, but is better known by old timers by the name of the "Oaxaca" mine, after the name of the family which owned it for years.

Fortune Is Secured.
This property is unique in the respect that the gold occurs in a matrix of brown calcite, instead of quartz, and the gold occurs in massive and nugget form, some of which were of such rare beauty as to be naturally jewelry, in the form of feathers, cubes and filigree.

Years ago, Norwald Bros., of Chihuahua, purchased these beautiful crystallized specimens and sent them to Germany, where they commanded very high prices. It is said that emperor William owns one of these specimens.

The vein was in a contact of overhanging lime and shale, and underlying porphyry. The rich streaks of native gold occurred near the junction of seams or "gilos" in the porphyry and the contact vein matter. At that time the shaft was down about 300 feet and about $125,000 had been taken from this one shaft, the only hoisting being the backs of the peons, who climbed up the "chicken ladders" or notched poles. The Oaxacas would make the miners were drilled the miners were called up and sent to their homes, and the Oaxacas then descended to the bottom and carefully picked out all the big gold specimens possible.

Nuggets Stolen.
"Often," said they, "we would find a single chunk of gold that would weigh several ounces, and have taken out as high as $1000 from the result of one shot. In spite of our precautions the employees would conceal a nugget so successfully as to fool us."

The ore, after the richest was taken out, was then carried down to the spring on burros and milled in three arrastras.

Just below this mine was the famous Arroya Rica, which was found about 40 or 50 years ago by some Mexican soldiers in pursuit of Apaches. The late Col. Pedro Gonzales, whose family live in El Paso, immediately resigned and staked out a claim, and in a few days took out $25,000 worth of gold nuggets.

Stampede to Placers.
A wild stampede followed and everybody made money. It is said that over $500,000 was taken out, and several well known families of the city of Chihuahua, such as the Millers and the McManuses, are said to have made the original wealth from this wonderful placer. A single nugget was picked up that weighed 11 pounds.

The gold is of the purest ever found on this continent, the mint of San Francisco having certified to its being 999 fine.

Geologically this gold belt can be traced northward to the White mountains and White Oaks, N. M., and possibly crosses the Rio Grande below the Guilmans, in this county.

Many Pleasant Affairs In Club Circles Of the City

Mrs. R. E. Bryan entertained the officers of the Home Mission society of Trinity Methodist church, south, at her home, 1520 Mundy avenue, Wednesday afternoon. Plans and needs of the local work were discussed, after which each guest was presented with a souvenir—a shamrock leaf. Delightful refreshments were served, carrying out the color scheme of the shamrock.

Among those enjoying the hospitality of Mrs. Bryan were: Mrs. Race, Mrs. Frank Powers, Mrs. Ayers, Mrs. Oliver, Mrs. Anthony, Mrs. Sawyer, Mrs. Crawford, Mrs. Earl J. Evans, Mrs. Patterson, Dr. and Mrs. Wright, Mrs. Hutton, Mrs. Nagley and Mrs. S. D. Ware.

The Women's Aid and Missionary societies of the East El Paso Presbyterian church held a joint meeting on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Fred Mayhew and listened to reports, considered plans for the next year's work and elected officers for the ensuing year. The treasurer's report showed that a total of $315.30 had been raised by the aid society and $10 by the missionary society during the year. The following persons were elected to office for the ensuing year: President of the Aid society, Mrs. Kenneth Brown; vice president, Mrs. E. W. Brown; secretary, Mrs. Fred Mayhew; treasurer, Mrs. J. H. Williams. President of the Missionary society, Mrs. Kenneth Brown; vice president, Mrs. H. L. Wall; secretary treasurer, Mrs. W. W. Littlejohn.

It was agreed that the Missionary society should meet on the first Thursday of each month during the year in the homes of the members; that light refreshments may be served at the option of the hostess and that a cent contribution may be received to be turned into the treasury of the society. In addition to what funds may be raised jointly by the Aid society each member also will try to make what she can during the year by her own accomplishments and each member will also try to secure as many new members as possible from the circle.

The meetings of the Missionary society will be more of an incentive and entertaining character while those of the Aid society will partake largely of a business and social nature. After the business of the afternoon, Mrs. Mayhew, assisted by Miss Bruner, served dainty refreshments.

The letter and art department of the Women's club met Wednesday afternoon, when a very interesting and instructive program was enjoyed.

"The West and Its Growth Since '49" was a most interesting paper by Mrs. Frank Turner.

"The Reclamation Service and Its Results" was a very lucid article and particularly well given by Mrs. Mamie Patterson.

"The Peaceable Indian Tribes of the West," was an exceedingly clever paper by Mrs. Lewis Cuthall.

Announcement was made that the election of department officers would be held at the April meeting, also the question was broached of organizing a separate art department for the club, which will be taken up and discussed later.

The meeting was cut short in order that the club members might attend the lecture on the "White Slave," given by Mrs. Mary Stillwell at the First Presbyterian church.

Mrs. E. H. Griffith and Mrs. W. B. Day entertained the Calvary Aid society and their friends Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Griffith, 1401 North Florence street. Several musical numbers were very delightfully rendered by Miss Ethel Row, accompanied on the violin by Miss Tura Compton and the piano by Miss Bessie Hanks. Refreshments were daintily served, Mrs. R. T. Hanks will entertain the society next week at the Calvary Baptist church, at 3:30 o'clock.

Mrs. W. D. Howe very pleasantly entertained the Thursday Lunch club this week. Mrs. W. B. Latta will be the next hostess.

The United Daughters of the Confederacy gave a most successful entertainment on Thursday afternoon, when they entertained a large number of their friends at a local theater.

Following the matinee a delicious enchilada supper was served by the Daughters, at the Schaeffer store on San Antonio street. A large number of El Paso's society women were in attendance and the affair was a pronounced success from every standpoint.

At the regular meeting of Western Rebekah lodge, last Tuesday night quite a number were taken into the lodge by initiation and also by transfer cards from other lodges. Next Tuesday being the regular social night, the Tuesday Night Social club will entertain for the new members.

Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock the women's home missionary society of the First Methodist church will hold its regular meeting at the home of Mrs. J. F. McLeod, 1132 Arizona street.

The Mecca of Magnificent Millinery

THE Easter Hat is now the all-absorbing topic with El Paso women. Our recent Opening proved to the satisfaction of everybody that it is here authentic millinery, of every kind, is shown in the widest range of choice. Now, with only a week before Easter, we want to impress on you that it is here the Easter hat—it makes no difference what kind you require—should be selected. During the twelve years we have devoted, exclusively, to the millinery business in El Paso it has always been our policy to produce the very highest type of millinery at the very lowest prices. This is especially true this season.

Before selecting the Easter hat we want to remind you that it is so much better to come to an exclusive millinery store and select a hat that is absolutely correct and at the same time costs less than you would pay elsewhere for a hat that is indifferent in both style and quality. This idea has been proven many times during the past week. People came, admired some certain hat and then went around shopping. Many came back with the intention of buying the hat they had admired to find that it had been sold, in the meanwhile, to some woman of quicker discrimination. Others went elsewhere and bought something and then came back to tell us that next season they would know better.

In addition to showing you more hats than all the other millinery and department stores combined, we place at your disposal salespeople who are competent to assist you in your selection and a millinery workroom competent to carry out to the smallest detail any special idea that you may have.
